Wholesale Beer - Descriptions and Availability

Core Beers - available all year

Name / Style: Dæmon / Belgian Strong Golden

ABV: 8.4%

Pricing: Contact your sales person for pricing

Tasting Notes: This devilishly smooth golden strong clocks in at 8.5% but drinks like 6.0%. Aroma and flavor of ripe pear balanced with white pepper. Effervescence from high carbonation lightens up the rich malt backbone.

WTF Name: Dæmon (pronounced DAY-mun) is a little obtuse. First off it's traditional to give this style of beer a devilish name - like Duvel/devil. But nerds also know this as a program that runs on its own, doing all kinds of stuff. Ever get a bounced email from "mailer daemon"? That was sent from a daemon.

Wholesale Beer - Descriptions and Availability

- Name/Style: Whitespace / Witbier
- ABV: 5.1%
- Pricing: Contact your sales person for pricing
- Tasting Notes: Whitespace is a traditional witbier made with Seville orange zest and Indian coriander to round out the light-to-medium body of the wheat beer and Belgian yeast.
- WTF Name: Whitespace is the dead space in an email. Like when you're typing an email, fall asleep on the return key, and create all kinds of whitespace in your email. Oh also, the beer is white/wit so there's that.
- Availability: Core Beer - all year

Name/Style: Voxel / American Saison

ABV: 5.6%

Pricing: Contact your sales person for pricing

Tasting Notes: This beer has the bones of a classic saison but the dry hopping makes the complete package really pop. The saison yeast gives off fruity esters and earthy phenols that smell and taste of ripe pears, dried apricots, and light white pepper. The Mosaic hops bring clear hop presence with aromas and flavors of ripe berries. The yeast and hops are knitted together with a wheat-forward malt bill that is easy drinking and lightly creamy.

WTF Name: Voxel is pronounced "voxel". It's a 3-D pixel, aka volumetric pixel. Voxelization adds depth to a 2D image while the interslice distance between the voxels brings dinosaurs to life.

Name/Style: Position Zero / American Pale Ale

ABV: 5.5%

Pricing: Contact your sales person for pricing

Tasting Notes: With a clear hop presence throughout, this low bitterness and smooth dry-hopped APA gives spicy/floral hop expression in the flavor and aroma. Medium body makes it easy to get after a second... and a third.

WTF Name: Every good tech / engineering nerd knows you start counting from zero. That's position zero. This is also the first beer ever from Lo Rez. Well not this batch exactly. So it's our position zero beer.

Rotating Variations

- Name / Style: Plum Knockout / Tart Saison
- ABV: 5.5%
- Pricing: Contact your sales person for pricing
- Tasting Notes: Juicy, tart, very smooth, mauve. Balanced plum in aroma and flavor. This farmhouse ale has the backbone of a grassy wheatfield and kettle soured for a light tartness.
- Availability: Rotating. Prior Knockout variants include: apricot, pear, and peach.

Wholesale Beer - Descriptions and Availability

- Name/Style: Strawberry Shortcut / Berliner Weisse with Fruit
- ABV: 5.2%
- Pricing: Contact your sales person for pricing
- Tasting Notes: The base beer has a medium body from the high percentage of wheat, and a slightly funky tartness from the 3.5% ph. Strawberry comes through on the nose and all the way though and plays nicely off the base-beer characteristics.
- WTF Name: Did you know you can use the Mac control key + the ` tick to switch between apps? Like Alt-Tab in Windows. That's a shortcut. Plus this beer is short on alcohol. I know that's a stretch.
- Availability: Rotating. Previous Shortcut variants include: Cherry, Cranberry, Tamarind, Strawberry Basil, Mango Chile, Blackberry, and Double-Berry.

Seasonal Availability

- Name / Style: Biere de Miel / Honey Saison
- ABV: 6.0%
- Pricing: Contact your sales person for pricing
- Tasting Notes: Farmhouse aromas and flavors of wheat, hay, play off the clove and citrus. Single source Indian honey provide mouthfeel and light residual honey notes.
- WTF Name: It's kinda redundant
- Availability: Seasonal

- Name/Style: Local Logic / Pilsner
- ABV: 4.7%
- Pricing: Contact your sales person for pricing
- Tasting Notes: A refreshing easy drinking Pils. The super grainy body is propped up with low to firm bitterness. Deliciously clean.
- WTF Name: In software programming terms local logic is really nerdy. And there's also global logic which is nerdy too. This smooth easy drinking lager goes down really well with the locals in our taproom.
- Availability: Seasonal
